Film pendek "CULTURE SHOCK"

This video comes from the country of Indonesia. The culture he encountered in the first video was the discomfort felt by men who were under the influence of alcohol or drunk. In the second video, there is a lack of etiquette towards others. There are two videos here, top and bottom I will respond to the video above first, there we can see a woman who is not used to being greeted by a man she does not know and touched by the man who is

10 Culture Shocks Living In The UK

Joss is a man from Germany and Janik is a woman from Mexico. They experienced several cultural differences or culture shock while living in England. The differences that occurred in England include, for example:

- In England you drive your car on the right, unlike Americans, Germans or Mexicans who drive on the left. They sometimes have to adjust while driving to avoid being hit by another vehicle.
- Paid internet in the UK is very cheap, 12 Pounds gets 120 Gigabytes and unlimited internet

BERCERITA TENTANG CULTURE SHOCK INDONESIA OLEH ORANG JEPANG!!

This video tells the story of Culture Shock experienced by Tomohiro Yamashita and his friends (Kashiwa and Reiwa) who come from Japan. They experienced some culture shock while they were in Indonesia, and here are some of the culture shocks they experienced:

1. Many motorbikes even at night, they are afraid of being hit because they think Indonesians are good at driving. They also think that roads in Indonesia are always stuck and the distance between cars is close together.

CULTURE SHOCK TINGGAL DI INGGRIIS sebagai orang INDONESIA ! (Sebelum ke UK wajib nonton)

The video link above tells the story of Sheiya Anisa, an Indonesian citizen who married a foreign citizen and now she is following her husband to live in his country, namely England. Identify the causes of culture shock,

1. Intrapersonal factors, including communication skills, experience in cross-cultural settings, personal (independence or tolerance), and access to resources. Physical characteristics such as appearance, age, health,
